

WILL OBSERVE AIR FORCE DAY HERE AUGUST 1

PROGRAM INCLUDES DINNER AND ADDRESS BY COL. DONNER

Putnam county will observe Air Force Day, Wednesday, August 1, which celebrates the thirty eighth anniversary of the Army Air Forces. Civil Air Patrol organizations all over the nation will observe this day in connection with their own activities to aid the war effort in anticipation of victory.

Fred Pease, intelligence officer of the local unit, announced this morning that the program in Greencastle will include a dinner with the Chamber of Commerce, the aviation committee, the mayor, and other special guests in attendance. Following the dinner the guests will listen to an address by General H. H. Arnold, from a similar meeting in New York City, the largest to be held in the nation. In addition the guests will be addressed by Lt. Col. Wilbur S. Donner, who will review the history of the Army Air Forces and the role of air power in the present war.

During the past year the local organization has grown in size and now has an ever-increasing membership of fifty. Due to so rapid an increase in membership it has become necessary to organize an additional class. When school starts within another month or two there will be both a beginning and an advanced class. Due to the untiring efforts of the below named officers and other air-minded citizens, students in and around Greencastle now have the privilege of gaining a knowledge of basic ground training preparatory to actual flying. Officers of the local unit include Will V. Edington, commander; Roy Sutherland, executive officer; Fred Pease, intelligence officer; H. E. H. Greenleaf, training officer; Glenn Gardner, communications officer; Jos. Crosby, budget and finance officer; Ward Mayhall, supply officer, and Lucile Smith, acting adjutant.

"I personally urge all young people who are interested in flight to join this organization at the earliest possible moment. Along with other air-minded students you will learn much which will be of value to you if you intend to make a career of flying in post war world or if you desire will be of value to you if you desire. Having served in World War I, I realize the immeasurable value which this training may mean to young people of today. I earnestly wish that such training as this had been available to me.

"Let's all do our utmost to make this Air Force Day the finest possible and to make it an annual event for the citizens of Putnam county." These words are just a few of the comments by Fred Pease in support of Air Force Day and Civil Air Patrol organizations.

Franco Ousts 13 Of Cabinet

MADRID, July 21—(UP)—Gen. Francisco Franco recognized his cabinet today with a sweeping purge of Falangist party ministers that observers interpreted as a major step toward restoration of the monarchy and rapprochement with the Allies.

(Diplomatic sources in London said Franco was preparing to proclaim the 9-year old Alfonso Jaime, grandson of the exiled King Alfonso, king-designate and name himself as head of a regency to administer Spain until the boy-monarch reaches his majority.)

In the first thorough-going government shake-up since the civil war, Franco ousted nine of his 13 cabinet ministers and abolished the post of Falangist party Secretary-General. Jose Luis Arrese, former Secretary-General, was dismissed from his cabinet post of minister without portfolio and his position was not refilled.

Arrese's summary dismissal was regarded as authoritative sources as the "beginning of the end" for the Falange.

GIRL SCOUT ACTIVITIES OF INTEREST

TWO MEMBERS ACT AS REPORTERS; RELATE CAMP NEWS

Reporter for first week—Betty Evans
Reporter for second week—Mildred Greenleaf

First week, June 26 to July 1.

The Greencastle Girl Scouts really "went west" to camp this year. Although the actual site was Camp McCormick at McCormick's Creek State Park, one could easily have imagined it much farther "west" with camp names for the different units like "Six Shooters," "Bronco Riders," "Texans," etc. The Scouts were divided by their ages into three units: "Trail Blazers," "Ranchers" and "Pioneers."

Patrol I of the "Trail Blazers," know as the "Texans," elected Lila Hanna, patrol leader and Susan Stewart, assistant patrol leader. Other "Texans" were Marlene Twomey, Susie Bennett, Alice Van Cleave, Jean Alice Sallust, Carol Ann Hedge, Lila May Jarvis, Susan Glone and Marcia Sue Monnett.

Patrol II had Jennie Carpenter and Nancy Sutherland as patrol leader and assistant patrol leader respectively, and were known as the "Outdoor Campers." Other members of the patrol were May Adelaide Hinken, Ginnie Lou Annakin, Barbara Boger and Jackie Earnshaw. Mrs. Archibene Milner and the Misses Dorothy Cowgill and Peggy Sandy were counselors for this unit.

Counselors for the "Ranchers" were the Misses Anita Williams, Sheila Tourtelot and Ann Mitchell. The "Ranchers" were also divided into two patrols, "The Six Shooters" and the "Bronco Riders." Ann Morrow was the patrol leader of the "Six Shooters." Joe Mae Arnold, Sharon Burch, Geneva Dean, Lavonne Elmore, Marilyn Horn, Patsy Ross and Carol Shafer. Patrol II, the "Bronco Riders" elected Suzanne Webb as patrol leader. This patrol was made up of the following: Ruth Glick, Betty Heim, Marjory Siddons, Dorette Shoemaker, Margaret Witt, Sarah Elmore.

Miss Betty Greenleaf, assistant camp director, was the unit leader for the "pioneers," and Maragret Neal was their counselor. Virginia Arnold as leader of Patrol I, better known to the camp as "The Bats in the Belfry," ("That Bats"). Jane Ritchie, Avery Hirt, Jerry Aker, Joan Alexander, Betty Evans, Peggy Tennant, Donna Boger, Pat Anderson and Nacy McCoy were also "Bats." Patrol II, composed of Marion Greenleaf, Mildred Greenleaf, Rosemary Sourwine, Mary Lee Zeigleman, Diane Dropsey, Martha Ruddleick, Diane Martin, Patricia Cray, and Gayle Thompson, elected Mary Ann Bills as their patrol leader. This last patrol was known as "The Explorers."

Mrs. Dewey Annakin of Terre Haute, a national registered trainer and director, was director of the camp for the second year. The girls enjoyed such outdoor activities as hiking, Red Cross junior and senior life saving, handicraft, outdoor cooking, camp fires, swimming and the usual songs and dances that really make camp what it is.

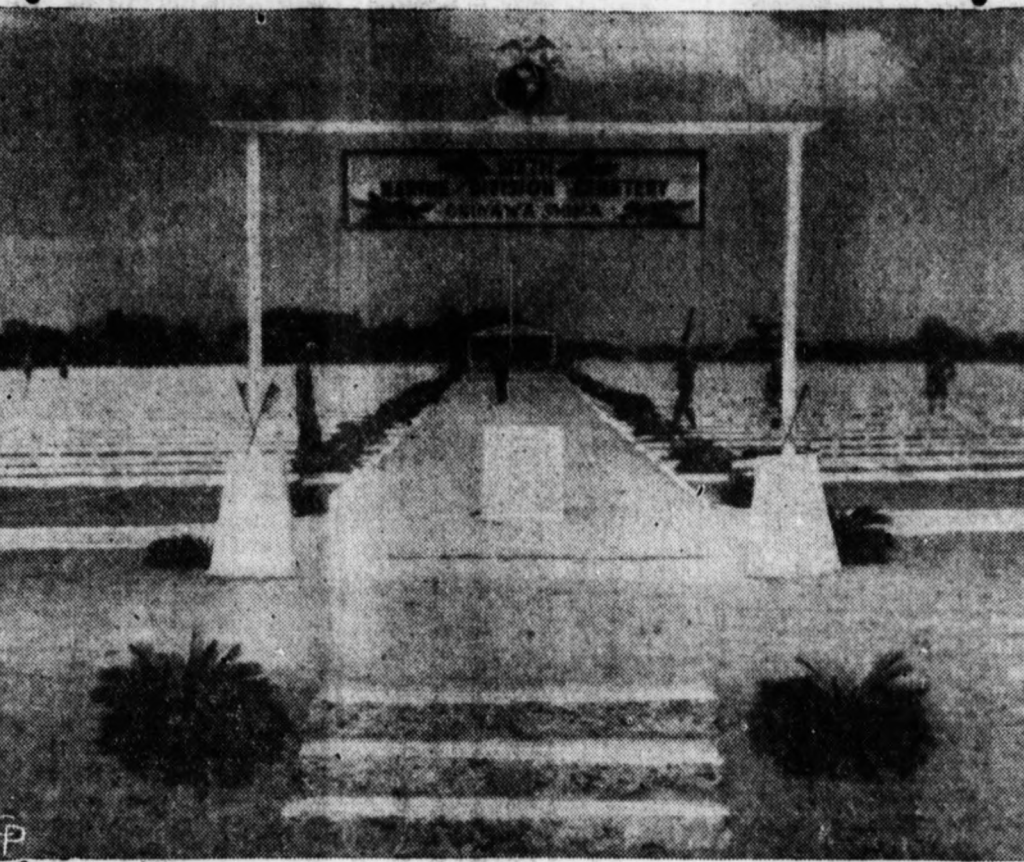

Mrs. Jesse McAnally and her daughter, Mrs. Ducey, prepared the excellent meals with the assistance of Mary Lee Zeigleman, Mrs. Edith Zeigleman, who was to be one of the cooks, fell and hurt her ankle seriously, so Mrs. Ducey and Mrs. Zeigleman's Girl Scout daughter took over.

Lucy Louise Longden, Joan Cromwell and Barbara Weinrichter had charge of the handicraft, Miss Longden directing this activity. Mrs. Betty Glone Bloomer was "Doc," our camp nurse.

Behind every camp of this size there must be months of planning and weeks of preparation. The Greencastle Girl Scout Council, and more specifically, the camp committee, under the direction of Mrs. Clark Arnold, chairman, worked hard to make this camp a success. Mrs. H. E. H. Greenleaf, as business manager, took care of each Scout's money, and was "jack of all trades" around the camp. Their good work was clearly evidenced

Japs Facing Situation Similar To Germany Just Before D-Day In 1944

By United Press

Japan today finds herself in a situation not greatly unlike that of Germany just before D-Day in June, 1944. Her only hope of salvation lies not in her own force, but in a rift between the United Nations—more specifically a rift between the United States and Soviet Russia, and most specifically a rift between them over the two rival regimes in China.

When Germany felt the squeeze from three sides, she waged a final high-pressure diplomatic and propaganda campaign to split the allies. Japan is at that point today.

Military Japan's chances of victory in this war seem today to be infinitely less than her chances of provoking that political rift between the United Nations.

The lack of any concrete announcement after the recent conversations in Moscow between Premier Stalin and Soong left the way open for speculation on their possible disagreement on a fusion of the rival Chungking and Yennan regimes of China.

True, the door was left open when the Moscow conversations broke up but there is no reason to believe that Moscow has judged the slightest bit from her China policy on non-support of Chiang Kai-Shek. And the United States entire Far Eastern policy is based upon the development of the Chungking regime as the one governing authority over an eventually unified China.

Strengthened by her recovery of Manchuria, perhaps Korea and Formosa, Chiang Kai-Shek is adamant in his insistence upon the territorial integrity of all China, which means bringing the present Communist-controlled north China into the realm of Chungking authority as well as the provinces lost to Japanese aggression. The United States is pledged to that attainment of the political unity of China; Soviet Russia is and has been completely indifferent even if not openly opposed.

The Chungking army is still tied up maintaining a military blockade along the borders of the Yennan territories controlled by the Communists. The United States is not able, under lend-lease to furnish military supplies and arms to the Chinese Communist armies in North China, which are fighting the Japanese independent of Chiang Kai-Shek's efforts.

All Chinese efforts, instigated at least indirectly by the United States, to find a common ground with the Yennan Communists failed because Chiang insisted that all Chinese forces, Communist or non-Communist, be thrown into the great Chinese army under his command. The Communists have insisted that their army remain intact and neither be disbanded or incorporated into the Chinese army.

In the event of invasion, the American army eventually would chase the Japanese army into or through the Yennan territories held by the Chinese Communists. What would happen? Would the Chinese Communists and Chiang's troops fight side by side against the common foe or would they fight each other?

Would Russia, which considers Mongolia as the backdoor to Siberia, allow a strong Chungking and American army to penetrate the territories of the friendly Communist Chinese. If Yennan fights Chungking in the operation, can American troops stand by and watch? If they take sides with Chiang, will Stalin support the Chinese Communists?

PLAN EXPERIMENT IN 'ROTATION SLEEPING'

WASHINGTON, July 21—The War Department authorized an experiment in "rotation sleeping" on a troop train leaving Camp Kilmer, N. J., Sunday for Fort Sam Houston, Tex.

Under the plan each of 513 soldiers will be assigned two stations on the train—one a Pullman car berth and the other a coach seat. Another soldier will be given the same two-car assignment.

When the first soldier is sleeping in the berth the other soldier will be sitting in the coach. At the end of each "shift" the two will change places.

Army spokesmen said that its transport offices will decide tomorrow just how long each soldier should remain in the sleeping car. The War Department said the troops making the experiment will be "queried" on their arrival at Fort Sam Houston as to their comfort and further feasibility of using the system. If the experiment is successful the Army plans to use it to alleviate the sleeping car shortage.

Earlier the Office of Defense Transportation had asked both the Army and Navy to double up in organized train travel.

The Army said the experimental train will consist of eight Pullman cars, five coaches, two diners and a baggage car.

In announcing the experiment Acting Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson said the War Department "is concerned with obtaining for our soldiers the best possible travel accommodations."

"But we recognize our responsibility to conserve Pullman cars for essential civilian travel to the maximum possible extent," he added. "The Army will continue to make every effort to reduce the heavy burden placed upon our railroads by the redeployment of our troops."

Hitler Not On Sub, Says Nazi

KIEL, Germany, July 21—Adm Eberhard Godt, operations chief for the former German Navy Undersea Fleet, said today the German submarine U-530 which surrendered to Argentina last week had left "Kiel or a Norwegian port" on March 3 and that neither Adolf Hitler nor Eva Braun was aboard.

The admiral said that reports that Hitler and his mistress had been put ashore in Argentina by the U-530 were wild rumors.

"I certainly would have known if the U-530 had been earmarked for any special mission," Godt said in his first statement to the press since Germany's surrender.

His statement was supported by German Admiral Helmut, a former commander of the cruiser Hipper and chief of small battle units, who said the U-530 was "leading at the seams" and had been considered unsafe.

"Her bow was sheared off by an American tanker on Christmas Day, 1943, when it attacked her off the east side of the Panama Canal. It was very lucky to return to base. It's amazing how she got to Argentina."

Former Commander Heye of the German fleet, southeast Asia area, said he was convinced Hitler died in Berlin and added:

"If he intended to escape it would have been by air, not by sea."

"He didn't like ships—he even got sick riding on his yacht on the Rhine."

Europe To Get American Coal

WASHINGTON, July 21—(UP)—High official circles today saw the hand of President Truman at Potsdam in fuel administrator Harold L. Ickes' decision to allow Europe 6,000,000 tons of American coal before Jan. 1.

The decision, announced yesterday, constituted a sudden reversal in Ickes' position. He was said previously to have ordered all coal shipments to liberated countries halted by Sept. 1 because of the critical U. S. shortage.

The U. S. is currently sending 500,000 tons of coal a month to Europe. By Jan. 1 this would add up to less than half the amount Ickes now recommends.

Official sources said Mr. Truman must have found a bad situation in Potsdam as far as prospects for European reconstruction are concerned.

Coal is considered the key to Europe's political unrest, Ickes said yesterday that "the race in Europe is one between coal and anarchy."

The War Shipping Administration, caught by surprise by Ickes' announcement, said food shipments to Europe might have to be cut to make way for the coal.

TRUCK STRIKES CAR TO AVOID HITTING MOTORISTS

Mrs. Harold Bailey, age 23, Danville housewife, six children and another woman narrowly escaped injury, Monday evening, when the 1939 Ford Tudor which Mrs. Bailey was driving was struck by a truck loaded with cattle and driven by L. C. Webb, age 42, Roachdale trucker, on Road 38, between Danville and New Winchester.

Webb was trailing the Bailey car, driving east, and started to pass when he came upon a car from Pennsylvania which was parked part-way on the north side of the pavement. A man and a boy were standing at the edge of the pavement repairing a tire, and the trucker swerved into the Bailey car to avoid striking the two pedestrians. The Bailey car was damaged on the left side an estimated $75, but the truck was not damaged. Sheriff Oscar Bradford and Deputy Leon Bayliss investigated.—Danville Republican.

Navy Considers Discharge Plan

WASHINGTON, July 21—(UP)—The Navy disclosed that it is considering an age-service point system under which older reserve officers and enlisted men will be discharged or released to inactive duty.

The Navy estimated that 19,000 men would be eligible to return to civilian life under the plan.

The minimum points required range from 53 to 57, depending on the service branch in which the men are serving.

The Navy said the plan calls for computing a man's "service age" by allowing one point for each year of age, plus an additional point for each four months of active duty since Sept. 1, 1939, when Germany invaded Poland.

The 53-point discharge score applies to reserve officers of the line, enlisted reservists and Navy inductees and enlisted regulars serving during the war under expired enlistments.

Scores of 55 to 57 points were set respectively for reserve officers of the supply and civil engineer corps because these branches have fewer officers.

Regular Navy officers, except temporary officers with a regular status of enlisted men, are not included in the program.

It will not apply to reserve officers of the medical, dental and chaplain corps until shortages in these departments are overcome.

The Navy said the minimum "computed age" will be subject to future change as experience warrants.

Bishop Lowe Favors Charter

NEW YORK, N. Y., July 21—Bishop Titus Lowe, episcopal head of the Indianapolis Area composed of 320,000 Methodists, expressed his belief that the United Nations Charter "points the way to international righteousness, fair dealing and genuine goodwill." His message received at the headquarters of the denomination's Crusade for a New World Order here, was sent in response to a poll of his 32 colleagues in the Methodist Council of Bishops, invited by the president, Bishop Charles C. Seelman of Dallas, Texas.

In his request for endorsement of the charter, Bishop Lowe voices the wishes of his people, and avers that the hopes of mankind are enshrined in it. When firmly and justly administered, the charter can be and will be humanity's most powerful safeguard of permanent peace. May it meet with unprecedented success.

Two years ago the Methodist bishops launched a movement among the denomination's 41,000 churches to encourage the study of the religious aspects of international postwar collaboration and to register support of the principle with their senators and representatives. The present symposium, to which Bishop Lowe and the other bishops contributed, will be presented to the Senate as assurance of the backing of the Methodist church in the ratification of the charter.

FLEET BELIEVED HEADED BACK TOWARD TOKYO

JAPS FEAR NEW BLOW BY HALSEY'S WARSHIPS

GUAM, July 21.—(UP)—Tokyo spokesmen hinted that Adm. William F. Halsey's allied battle fleet was heading back for Japan today to follow up its 11 day bombardment of the home islands with a new blow at southern Honshu or Hokkaido.

There was no official word from fleet headquarters on the whereabouts of Halsey's armada since it broke off the shelling of Tokyo Bay early Thursday morning.

But Japanese broadcasts said the American and British warships, perhaps 150 strong, had returned and refueled at a secret Pacific rendezvous and were expected to return to the attack at any time.

At the same time, the enemy boasted of new "secret weapons" awaiting the allied raiders and a naval spokesman declared that the remnants of the imperial fleet would shortly be thrown into action for "one last blow."

Swarms of U. S. army warplanes from Iwo Jima and Okinawa, meanwhile, carried the pre-invasion bombardment through its 45th straight day yesterday with a series of slashing attacks on Honshu and the southern island of Kyushu.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Okinawa-based airpower joined in the assault on Honshu for the first time, when a lone B-24 Liberator bombed the Miho airfield on the southern part of the main island.

At the same time, a fleet of 94 Seventh Air Force Mustang fighters flew 1,600 miles round-trip from Iwo to strafe airfields and aircraft factories in the Nagoya-Osaka area of Honshu. Striking in successive waves, the Mustangs beat up the area with rockets and machine gun fire, meeting no aerial opposition and only moderate anti-aircraft fire.

They spotted only 12 grounded enemy planes during the hour-long sweep and destroyed one and probably a second of those, damaging six others. Eight river boats and two larger coastal ships also were attacked and damaged. Three Mustangs were shot down by the Japanese flak.

Fifth Air Force raiders from Okinawa were over Kyushu in force throughout the day, bombing and strafing airfields, railroad targets, waterfront installations and factories near Kushiko and Miyakonojo.

Japs Fall Back Before Aussies

MANILA, July 21 (UP)—Australian troops pressed Japanese forces back along the Samar-Inda pipeline, on Borneo's southeast coast, today fighting toward the rich oil prize of the Koetal Delta.

The Koetal Delta area around the mouth of the Mahakam river and the oilfields around Sambodja to the south before the war produced over 7,000,000 barrels a year.

Japanese units showed a surprising reluctance to fight, perhaps husbanding their strength for an all-out blow.

In the Brunei Bay area, southeast of Beaufort, Australian troops easily smothered a Japanese counter-attack of less than company strength.

Clifford Torr, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Torr, Sr., of Greencastle, arrived in New York City Friday morning on the Queen Elizabeth.

The second week of camp opened with ten girls checking out, and the addition of twenty four new campers, Helen Plummer, Virginia Prichard, Bernedda Bruner, Billy Gray, Doris Elmore, Jean Stiles, Saralee Watts, Barbara Welcher, Vallie Powell, Diana Davison, Martha Kerr, Almeda White, Martha Harlan, Patricia Gould, Shirley Byers, Martha Jean Sullivan, Evelyn Dobbins, Mary Lou Fancher, Diane Chastain, Rosalie Burns, Cora Jane Myers, Patty Sutherland, Helen Cagle and Julia Ann Honnold.

Patrol leaders for the second week were for the "Ranchers," Patsy Ross and Diane Chastain. For the "Trail Blazers," Alice Faye Van Cleave and Jackie Earnshaw. And for the "Pioneers," Marion Greenleaf and Betty Evans.

The second week Scouts from Princeton and Salem, Ind., and from Paris and Kansas, Ill., as well as from Roanoke and Greencastle entered camp. On Sunday evening the "Explorers" from the "Pioneer" unit led the camp in a "Scouts Own" program. Taps were blown at 9:30.

It was decided that this week the "Pioneers" would follow a program in outdoor cooking, crafts and sports. The other units would follow a program of nature studies, hikes and games. Monday found the "Pioneers" trudging up and down a long steep hill from the canyon, carrying flat rocks to line a freshly dug "bean hole." Each patrol had its own bean hole, so of course a contest was started to see who would have the best one. After this task was completed the scouts went in for their afternoon swim. Five Pioneers were working on their Senior Life Saving and two on their Junior. In the evening the different units held a "games night." The "Pioneers" played volleyball, the "Ranchers" baseball, and the "Trail Blazers" learned folk dances.

On Tuesday afternoon, the "Pioneers" built fires in their bean holes. These fires blazed for an hour and when the ashes were removed bean pots were placed in the holes and covered with dirt. They were not to be dug up until the next day. In the evening the two younger units held their campfire. Dot "Happy" Annakin, from Camp Na-Wa-Kwa, Terre Haute Girl Scout camp, told stories at this camp fire. Later in the evening the "Pioneer" unit held their camp fire, and sang songs and made plans for the Fourth of July play. At 9:30 this unit sang songs and "Taps" to the other two units.

Early on the morning of the Fourth all units were busily engaged in making plans for the "Big Parade." Each unit represented some group of Americans. There were gypsies, farmerettes and mountaineers. The "Pioneer" unit was the band; drums were kettles and there were flute and trumpet players as well as a majorette. Terre Haute Girl Scouts were also in the parade, which went on a circuit past the hotel and swimming pool. After the parade the Terre Haute Girl Scouts gave a program at the council bowl to which the Greencastle camp was invited.

In the evening the park officials had a program in the council bowl, and the Greencastle camp was invited to have a part in this program. The scouts presented a short patriotic pageant closing with the song "America Needs You." Marion Greenleaf gave a twirling exhibition, accompanied by one of the guests at the hotel, who played the accordion.

For supper the night of July Fourth, the whole camp enjoyed the delicious beans cooked by the "Pioneers" in their bean holes.

On Thursday afternoon the senior unit, "The Pioneers," made tin can stoves out of No. 10 cans. A small door was cut on one side and a chimney at the top on the other side.

At the Thursday evening campfire each patrol gave a folk dance and then taught it to the other patrols.

On Friday morning the "Pioneers" left camp very early and went to a place up the canyon above the stone bridge, where the rocks were large and flat. Here the scouts built fires in their tin can stoves and cooked a delicious breakfast of pancakes and eggs. Honey butter was used on the pancakes, and some of the eggs were roasted in crange skins in the ashes of a large campfire. The girls were accompanied on this breakfast cook-out by their unit leader, Betty Greenleaf, and their counselor, Margie Neal. To make the day complete, this same unit had a supper cook out, consisting of baked potatoes, weiners, carrot sticks, rolls and cookies. The supper was held at Cedar Point and the girls had their own campfire and outdoor song fest before coming back to camp.

During the week, the two younger units had many nature hikes and some of the girls learned to identify, by sight, forty one different birds and twenty seven different trees.

One of the most important events of the day is the swimming hour. This year Miss Margaret Sturgess was waterfront director, and conducted classes in both Senior and Junior Life Saving. Two girls passed the Red Cross requirements for Junior Life Saver, Jerry Akers and Joan Alexander. Five girls passed Red Cross Life Saving requirements, Mary Ann Bills, Rosemary Sourwine, Diane Dropsey and Marion and Mildred Greenleaf.

Saturday night was the night of the big camp party. This year it was a dinner-dance. Half of the girls came dressed as boys and they spent many happy minutes during the day making corsages for their "dates" and borrowing and trading clothes, etc., to wear at the party. Some very unusual corsages made of pine needles, daisies, hollyhocks, etc., were seen at the party.

In the evening the camp fire was in charge of the eight patrol aides that were to remain the following week to help with the Brownie camp, Mary Ann Bills, Betty Evans, Virginia Arnold, Jane Ritchie, Diane Dropsey, Marion Greenleaf, Rosemary Sourwine and Mildred Greenleaf. At this camp fire, according to our yearly custom, a log was removed from the fire and will be kept to start next year's first camp fire.

On Sunday, July 8th, the Girl Scouts left for home and the "Brownies" came into camp.

DEATH A MYSTERY

Theory that the mysterious death in Chicago of Arthur J. Sikora, 39-year-old engineering manager of the Wright Aeronautical Corporation of Cincinnati, O., was "murder at the hands of enemy agents," was advanced by an official Wright spokesman although discounted by authorities. According to Wright officials, Sikora left Cincinnati "with plans for the windup of the Jap war so far as B-29 production is concerned." PROTECTING TROOPS FLYING HOME

WITH 30,000 U. S. TROOPS scheduled to fly from Europe during August relatives and friends can rest assured that the most effective air-sea rescue system ever devised is safeguarding the men. Out of 4,157 planes to bridge the Atlantic, only two have been lost without trace and 60,000 men have been flown home since April. As the above map shows, stationed along the flying routes are naval vessels of three nations: United States, England and Brazil. In the North Atlantic, areas around Greenland and Iceland have rescue patrols in case of air accidents. Between Africa and Brazil (1) the waters are also well protected while from the Azores to the United States coast many ships are constantly on guard. (International)

COME TO CHURCH SUNDAY

WORLD RELIGIOUS NEWS

Bishop Arthur J. Moore who personally has seen the barbarism of the Japanese in China declares that Christianity marches on despite the brutality of the warlords of Japan.

Chaplain Russell L. Shap says that among the service men the four most popular hymns are "The Old Rugged Cross," "Abide with Me," "I Love to Tell the Story," and "Onward Christian Soldiers."

CHURCH FORUM

Has there been a recent increase in Bible study?

The answer is found in the Gallup poll giving this statement: "Whereas one year ago only 43 per cent of all civilians between the ages of 21 and 29 read the Bible at any time during the previous twelve months, today the proportion is 60 per cent. Of those between 21 and 40 years of age, 60 per cent have read the Bible within the past year; of those fifty years old or more, 71 per cent."

More than 64 per cent have read the Bible during the past year as compared with 59 per cent the previous year. One out of ten read the Bible daily; women are better readers than men; farmers read it more regularly than city people. The highest per cent of Bible readers is found in the South.

HOME EDUCATION

"Oh, that old teacher. She has it in for me—I can't do any thing right, said a young lad. Instead of sympathizing with the lad making such a remark, there is a call for needed help. Possibly such an expression is but a reaction to remarks and actions in parents unconsciously expressed. Some parents rationalize about their mistakes and failures, and now he is imitating them.

Some good questions regarding the lad's statement might be, has his home life been too easy so that he has a tendency not to work hard on his lessons, or is the assigned lesson too hard in which case needed help could be given?

In many cases parents are not in close touch with the work of the public schools and therefore cannot co-operate fully. A parent can not spend time to better advantage than frequently to visit the school which his child is attending, learning to know better his teacher and the work he is doing for the child.

FIND SUNBATHING HAS ADDED HAZARD

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UP)—The dangers of sun bathing are not only in the resulting sunburns.

Elton Graves and his wife recently were run over by an automobile as they were sprawled in the sun at Leon Pond.

FAROUK HELPS VETERAN SET UP TOBACCO SHOP

CAIRO (UP)—Twenty-five thousand of the best quality Egyptian cigarettes sent from King Farouk will help eyeless and handless David Bell of Granton, Edinburgh, start his tobacco shop.

Bell, who lost his eyes and hands in a booby-trap explosion in the Western Desert in 1942, culminated his two-year struggle to surmount these staggering handicaps recently by getting married and starting in business for himself by opening a tobacco shop.

Farouk read the story of Bell's heroic fight in Arabic-English Cairo papers and was deeply moved by Bell's fortitude and determination. Realizing that Bell would have a difficult time obtaining a good stock of cigarettes to launch his shop successfully, Farouk decided 25,000 of Egypt's best would help considerably the ex-soldier who was wounded while fighting in Egypt's sands.

At once he sent his aide-de-camp, Squadron Leader Hassan Akef to Gen. Bernard Alfrey, commander of the British forces in Egypt, with the royal gift.

Accepting the gift, Gen. Alfrey said Farouk's gesture would be appreciated by British troops all over the world.

NEW SLOGAN

"Make Use of What you Have" is a slogan being adopted by homemakers in Putnam county. At the recent home economics extension leader training meetings leaders from sixteen clubs met with Miss Frieda Stoll, Purdue University to remodel hats and purses. The increased cost of hats and purses has created considerable interest in ways to put these articles back into service.

"Hold on to your Hat" may be necessary advice for the men in the family. Not only are women remodeling their own hats, but they are converting men's hats into women's bonnets. Attractive pill boxes, catlets, and brimmed models once adorned the sterner sex.

A few simple changes may bring milady's hat up to date. Cleaning and brushing help to give a hat a "new" look. New trimming may be added or a faded ribbon may be reversed and used again. A few changes such as making a more shallow crown, a narrower brim, reversing the brim to change the appearance of the hat and give the hat another seasons wear.

Bags often become shabby and dirty on the outside while the inside is still in usable condition. Just the same way as a slip cover for a chair adds interest to a room, likewise a slip cover for a shabby purse improves your costumes, suggests Miss Stoll. The slip cover is removable, easily laundered. Many frame-top type of bags can be dressed up again by adding a new bag or pouch.

Remodeled hats and purses are examples of another way to "Use it Up" and "Make it Do."

NEWS in the WORLD for RELIGION

"To advocate peacetime universal military training at the very moment when the San Francisco Conference is engaged in the vital task of setting up a world charter seems to many to imply grave doubts about the success of that conference itself," Dr. Donald B. Cloward, of the Northern Baptist Convention recently told a Congressional hearing committee. "One is based on a brave new hope, the other on despair. One course confronts the future with creative faith, the other prejudices the postwar world in the mood of cynicism."

J. Arthur Rank, British industrialist and leader of the English film industry, is an active Methodist layman, teaches a Sunday school class each week, and has founded the Religious Film Society in England. He has now acquired a 50% interest in the Odeon Theaters in Canada, and on a recent visit there outlined plans for the production and distribution of films for children. These films will be shown through organizations similar to the Boys and Girls' Movie Clubs now flourishing in England, where they are in theaters of Mr. Rank's circuit each Saturday morning. He explains that this program is intended "to instill good citizenship through the greatest medium in the world—the visual impact of the motion picture." Mr. Rank is also a member of the boards of fourteen flour-milling concerns.

Veterans returning from the war fronts will want a religion of action rather than one of talk and of "platitudinous discourses," Commander Everett P. Wuebbens, of the Navy Chaplain's Office, recently told a conference of Jewish rabbis. If they do not get a religion that has some effect upon everyday life, they will probably not return in large numbers to churches and synagogues, he believes. "If by religion we mean organized religion, such as the average serviceman saw in the average church and synagogue of America before he left home, we might just as well face the fact that our veterans will have little more use for that sort of thing than do the young men who stayed at home to work in a defense plant—and that, as every realist knows, is very little, indeed," said the Commander. "If the message they hear is nothing but a clever rehash of the human wisdom found in copy-book maxims, which the veterans themselves have discussed and thought through during many a lonely watch, they will not come back, and for the life of me I can't see why they should come back. If we have a real and living religion to offer the veterans when they return, many of them will join our ranks and stand shoulder to shoulder with us."

The evangelical (Protestant) movement in South America is "moving in from the fringes of life and becoming the center of life and activity," Dr. E. Stanley Jones, missionary and evangelist, said upon his recent return from a tour of Chile, Argentina, Uruguay, Brazil and elsewhere in South America. "Seventeen years ago, when I first visited South America, the evangelical movement was out on the edges of life—it was confined to little churches," he said. "But in these years something has happened. The intellectual Latin Americans had passed up religion years ago. Now they want to know what it means for them and their countries. Newspaper reporters, on this trip, asked me what the evangelicals and the missionaries believed on this and that subject. Seventeen years ago they avoided the evangelical viewpoint. The fact is that the evangelical movement is becoming a public issue—people are talking about it. That is because the movement stands for freedom and liberty—and it is freedom and liberty for which the intellectuals are looking."

Disappearance of "cheap jingle hymns" from church services is predicted by Dr. T. Tertius Noble, retired organist of St. Thomas Protestant Episcopal church, New York City, composer, and president of the Hymn Society of America. "Some of the clergy like these cheap jingle hymns have been a potent agency in keeping them alive," says Dr. Noble. "Music should be perfectly suited to every church service. The great chorales of the 16th and 17th centuries will live forever. The bad jingle hymns will not endure."

The Chinese Ministry of Health is enlisting missionary hospitals, doctors and nurses in its projected post-war crusade to greatly multiply the number of institutions—and individuals concerned with promoting the health of the people. A recent survey shows the need; there is one trained physician for every 40,000 Chinese, but one for every 750 Americans; one hospital bed for every 10,000 Chinese, but one for every 250 Americans.

IN MEMORY

In loving remembrance of our daughter and sister, Bertha Morgan Daugherty, who departed this life 18 years ago, July 22, 1927.

"The moon and stars are shining,
On a lone and silent grave,
Beneath lies one we dearly loved,
But whom we could not save.
Friends may think we have forgotten,
At times when they see us smile,
Little do they know the heart aches,
That our smiles hide all the while."
Sadly missed by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Morgan and sisters, Etta Scott and Mamie Jackson.

KANSAS PATENTS DEVICE TO RAISE SUNKEN SHIPS
WICHITA, Kan. (UP)—Lance D. Richards, part-time inventor, reports he has patented an invention designed for trove-hunting.

Richards believes his device can raise sunken vessels to the surface of the water from virtually any depth.

If his plan is carried through it will involve one or two huge salvage vessels. These will locate sunken ships by radar. A cable would be dropped when the approximate location is found. It would bear a steel plate carrying a number of prods.

Richards said the magnetized plate would move toward the steel hull of the vessel, fastened by a motor attachment. The inventor believes it would grind through the barnacles to the steel beneath.

High charges of electricity would be sent down the cable and the plate welded under water by remote control.

Other plates would be sent down and welded until enough were affixed to lift the ship to the surface.

SUGAR-SAVING WAYS TO CAN PEACHES AND PEARS

Use firm ripe, tree-ripened peaches and apricots. Most varieties of pears should be removed from tree when mature and left in a cool place until ripe enough for eating. Pears should not be canned until fully ripe. Fruit should be free of bruises, rotten spots and worms.

Grade fruit for size, color and degree of ripeness. Wash clean before removing skins. Remove skins, discard pits and cores and drop fruit in cold salt-vinegar water (tablespoon each to a gallon of water). Rinse before canning.

To can peaches: Cook 5 to 10 minutes, hot pack and process 10 to 20 minutes or pack raw and process 20 to 35 minutes.

To can apricots: Cook 5 to 10 minutes, hot pack and process 15 minutes.

Pears: Cook 5 to 10 minutes, hot pack and process 15 to 25 minutes.

With small amount of sugar: Measure prepared fruit into a wide flat pan. To four quarts prepared fruit, add one to one and one-half cups sugar and from one to one and one-half cups boiling water. (The actual amount of water needed depends upon juiciness of fruit. Liquid should cover fruit in jars. Have boiling water ready in case sirup runs short.) Cook gently until sugar dissolves and fruit is hot through. Pack into clean hot jars and process by above instructions.

With corn sirup: To four quarts prepared fruit, add one and one-fourth cups sugar, one-half cup corn sirup and one cup boiling water and follow instructions given above.

With honey: To four quarts prepared fruit, add from one to one-half to two cups honey and one cup boiling water and follow instructions given above.

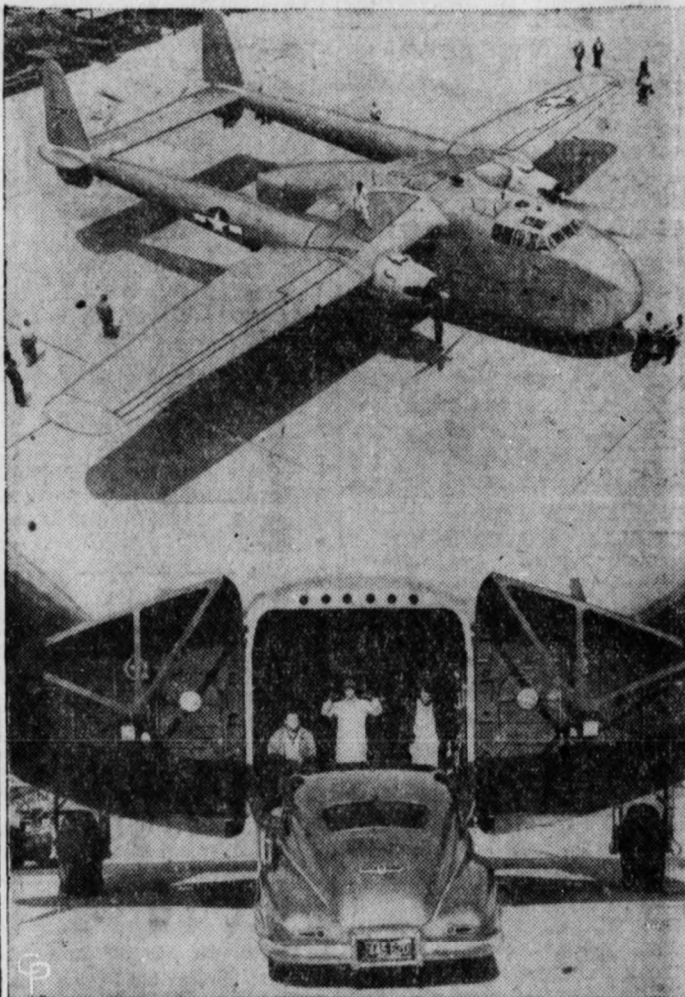

With canning sirup: Cover prepared fruit with choice of canning sirups and follow instructions given above or pack raw in clean hot jars and process according to directions.

Without sweetening: To four quarts fruit, add two or three cups boiling water and then in prime condition for winter storage. Purple Top White Glove and Milan are two good varieties. Late planted turnips are susceptible to damage from plant lice but the aphids may be controlled by spraying with nicotine sulfate.

If the gardener has a little extra space, say a row 15 or 20 feet long, try some fall grown head lettuce. Head lettuce is very sensitive to heat and drought and readily goes to seed unless conditions are just right. By reversing the season, planting growing the young plants during the warmer weather and
